

The Open Identity Exchange UK Europe (OIX)

Workshop Policy

Introduction

OIX workshops provide opportunities for individuals and organisations to share experiences, learn from others, make quality contacts and build relationships, all within the digital identity space. Workshops are open to members and non-members alike, are free of charge, and held on a regular basis in London and other European cities. The spoken and written language is English.

1. ARRANGING AND NOTIFYING

Workshops are arranged on a regular basis and that content is of interest and relevance to its members. Forthcoming workshops are notified on the OIX website, Eventbrite and by email to members and non-members on the OIX mailing list. Registration for a workshop is through the OIX UK website and/or Eventbrite.

2. AGENDA

The OIX Board set the workshop agendas. The agenda will reflect current and topical issues in digital identity. OIX will seek presentations from the European Union, governments, industry bodies and organisations that reflect policies, legislation, standards, industry guidance, current and future projects, case studies and panel sessions. Members are encouraged to contribute ideas and items to the OIX Programme Manager, and preference will be given to members for speaking opportunities.

3. FACILITATION

The OIX Programme Manager, or a delegated deputy, facilitates the workshop. Members will be invited to chair panel discussion sessions and moderate relevant sessions.

4. ETIQUETTE

Attendees are expected to participate in a professional and courteous manner, respecting viewpoints which may not align with their own - see also the OIX Code of Conduct.

Speakers should

- Prepare and rehearse presentations and ensuring delivery within the allotted time
- Use imagery and video clips above 'powerpoint' slides
- Not misuse the platform to sell their company, its products or services.

5. POST WORKSHOP

Presentations given will be made available on the OIX website. If information being shared by the speaker is of a sensitive nature, an alternative version of the presentation may be published with the sensitive information removed.

6. ATTENDANCE

Anyone can attend the workshops at no cost. If number of attendees is restricted by the venue, priority will be given to OIX members.

7. MEMBERS MEETINGS

Members meetings differ from workshops. They are held to discuss specific items in detail; in particular members meetings are used to discuss and evolve new project ideas, engaging members as early participants, prospective white papers and OIX future directions.
