

'Second' statement by Mydex in support of Steve Pannifer

Steve is a highly experienced Identity and Digital economy professional, he is capable of independent thinking and acting for the community of members he will be elected by to represent them as a member of the board. He is capable of holding people to account and provide the right level and challenge and support to ensure OIX maintains its mission and purpose. His track record in the industry speaks for itself and his sense of humour and sharp mind will carry him well into this role if success.

Steve is all too often a voice of reason and practical considerations in a world full of spin and naivety. For OIX to succeed it must look to the future with a practical yet innovative approach and yet exist into today's challenges. Steve's experience of working with large brands who would be both ideal OIX members and the relying parties for an distributed identity ecosystem means he can give the perspective of both the supply and demand side of the market.
